ANNOUNCEMENT & Call for Papers

2ND ANNUAL RESEARCH CONFERENCE of the Sam Nujoma Marine & Coastal Resources Research Centre SAM NUJOMA CAMPUS

Date: 27 - 29 September 2017

Venue: Conference Room, Sam Nujoma Campus, Henties Bay

Theme: Climate, Oceans, and Society: Challenges and Opportunities

The Sam Nujoma Marine and Coastal Resources Centre (SANUMARC) is the research arm of the Sam Nujoma Campus, with the mandate to conduct research on marine and coastal resources and enhance the research output for the University of Namibia (UNAM).

The Department of Fisheries and Aquatic Sciences (DFAS), at the Sam Nujoma Campus is the teaching arm of the Campus, with the mandate for teaching and research.

We are excited to invite all researchers, lecturers, scientists, technicians, and students involved in research within the realms of Climate, Oceans and Society to submit abstracts of their research papers they wish to present at this conference.

This will be the second time we are hosting this Annual Conference, which will coincide with the UNAM Annual Research and Innovation Day 2017, to be held at Sam Nujoma Campus. We strongly believe the Conference will promote and stimulate research, while creating an enabling environment for scientific discussions and knowledge sharing.

THE FOLLOWING THEMATIC AREAS WILL BE COVERED:

- Climate
- Oceans
- Society

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The Conference will feature presentations in the following formats:

- Research papers (20 minutes each)
- Research project / proposals, including Student's projects (10 minutes each)
- Other research-related announcements (10 minutes each)
